The MOUNT REGIS 1959

Foreword

A new phase of life lies before us. Years stretch across our horizons: untried, bright with promise. Behind us we leave a path heavily trod with memories.

Yesterday we were Freshmen, hustling in the autumn sun up Katsura Drive for the first time. Four years seemed a long time to us then. Today all we have left of those four years are our final good-byes and an album of keepsakes. In this album we tried to capture the Regis spirit. Wander with us through these pages, restoring the tradition of a ring ceremony, cap and gown day, Senior Week.

Stand with us in the shadow of the Norman Tower, symbol of strength and courage, and smile back on those trying moments. With laughter and tears we recall a Junior Prom, Senior carolers around a moonlit crèche, happy voices rising in song—making the Pavilion warm on a cold winter evening. Let us stand on the Parterre for one last all-embracing glance. Through the trees the wind plays a familiar melody...''Dear Alma Mater, attend our fond prayer. Hold all our memories safe in your keeping. And hallow our dreams of the future's bright hours.''

In Dedication . . .

"I am the mother of fair love and of fear, and of knowledge, and of holy hope. In me is all hope of life and of virtue."

Many years linger in the past, but none so important as our last four. As students of Regis, our accumulated wealth of knowledge, spiritual enlightenment, motivating principles and heart-felt memories is inexhaustible.

Gratitude is but a meager word for what has been given us, yet this feeling burns deeply within each breast.

Our Lady, the immortalization of the valiant woman, has lighted the lamps of our families, our faculty and ourselves for four years. She gave our families fortitude and understanding. The faculty, aided by her spirit, advanced the students in every aspect. And we became from the day of our Sodality Reception, images of Mary's light. For all, Our Lady is the valiant woman to be loved, honored and emulated.

The Class of 1959 dedicates the Mount Regis to Mary's lighting of the Way, the Truth and the Life.

Mother of Good Counsel Guides Her Children

Spring days bring pause in the day's occupation, as students linger at the Grotto of Our Lady in the Tower Gardens for quiet chatter and prayer. Here Mary is feted by the Regis choice of Queen of the May each year.

Library Sows Ancient, Modern Seed of Wisdom

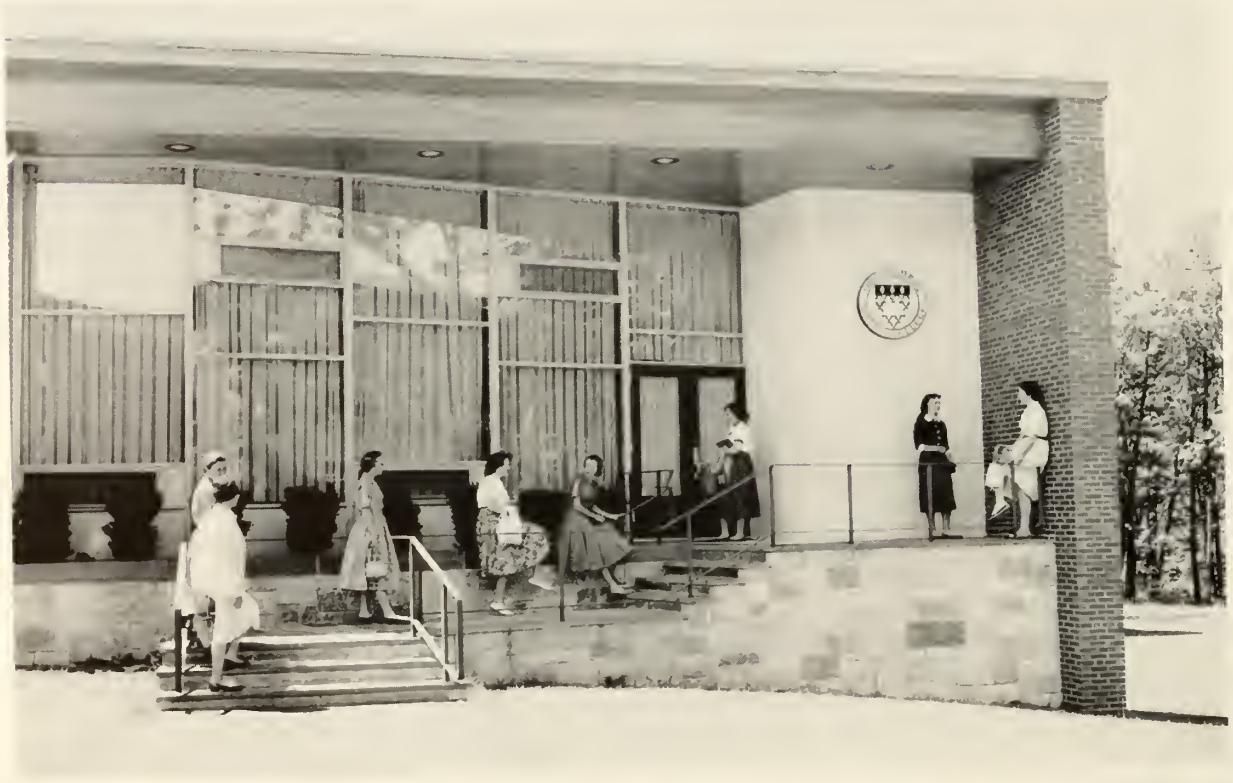
Modernistic Library, housing reading facilities, carrells, seminar rooms and language laboratories, provides cheerful setting for academic pursuits. The Newman and the Philatelic collections are displayed here, too.

With a perennial watch over the campus, the Norman Tower symbolizes Regis strength and virtue. Years have seen a gradual growth and the protectorate has extended since Regis College opened her doors in 1927.

The Tower was part of the Morrison estate, purchased by Mother Mary Domitilla as the site for the first Catholic resident college for women in the Archdiocese of Boston.

Called Peak Hall, the Morrison home housed a chapel, classrooms and dormitories during the first year. Now known as Regis Hall, this building is used for socials and workshops.

Campus Offers Pleasant Hours to Students



Spare moments in Spring bring Senior residents and friends to Maria Hall, their home away from home. West of College Hall, this dormitory houses Seniors and Juniors.

Katsura blossoms and Parterre pleasure, viewed from third-floor Lounge in College Hall, provide pretty picture of campus after classes.

Days of Shared Memories Weave Into Plans

At far end of Katsura Drive, branches shape an arch above Business Building, where Regisites prepare for future fields in business.

Originally the heart of the Morrison Estate, Regis Hall is today the setting for numberless social and cultural activities. Students pause at the Porte-Cochere for an afternoon break.

Regis Waits for the Lord and Keeps His Way

Maria Hall Lounge gives Seniors an opportunity to read, chat, study, listen to Hi-Fi records or play cards at recreation.

Parterre offers a glimpse of nature's splendor on campus, inviting Seniors to hide leisure time on an enticing Spring afternoon.

Students Set Heavenly Truth in Each Chore

Chemistry students en route to class at Cardinal O'Connell Hall, pause to discuss the weather, last night's assignment, ions and atoms or the next dance.

The South wing and the Foyer of College Hall were begun in 1927. The next year saw the completion of the North wing and all constructional aspects of College life. Cardinal O'Connell Hall, erected in 1938, provided scientists with modern laboratories and lecture halls. Nine years later, St. Joseph Hall, faculty residence, was built. The scholastic hutch, the Library, complete with language laboratories and seminar rooms was added in 1955. Maria Hall, modernistic dormitory, is the latest building to grace the Regis campus.

Future hopes include a fine arts building, chapel, union and gymnasium.

Gladness of Heart Depicts Life on Hilltop

A true poet finds delight viewing from Regis Hall the magical enchantment of the warmth and joy of springtime. This panorama of multi-colors invites all to dream awhile.

Dining at the Villa, shopping excursions, another college week end coming up... Maria Hall Lobby is the focal point of collegiate social activity.

Collegiate Strength, Courage Come from God

With Katsura Drive winding in the background, students smile as they climb the steps of the Parterre. They recall many unforgettable occasions . . . Founders' Day, Teas, Proms, leisure hours and busy moments.

Seniors Enjoy Capping, Checking, Chatting

Miss Hawley congratulates Elaine Sullivan on reception of cap and gown. Miss Tumins, Miss Pyne and Miss Nolan nod approval.

Mr. Gribbons probes psychological theses with Marianna Doyle, Susan Wells and Rosemary Catalucci.

Consulting with Father Burns, spiritual adviser, on the dynamic themes of critical, conscious, creative Catholicism for the college year, are MaryAnn Tompkins, Mary Callahan, Mary Lou Deady and Dorothy Aylward.

Bright Smiles Enliven Intellectual Pursuits

Miss Hughes joins Margaret Doherty, Margaret Finn, Annette McCarthy, with (standing) Louise McMurray, Eileen Smith, Sonia Mejia, Virginia Milott.

Miss DeSimone shows Joan Cahill, Mary Jane Newton, Audrey Bowen, Margaret Lynch historic spots in Italy.

Merriment sparks the discussion of approaching scientific projects, as Dr. Husted, Chemistry Professor, consults with enthusiastic students, Suzanne Beaudet, Diana Ventresca and Louise Forgues, who smile approval.

A Recollection . . .

SISTER MARYNIA, C.S.J.

When pale purple shades of the evening of life gathered for Sister Marynia, the Divine Sociologist welcomed His faithful follower to the heavenly shores.

The glory of her devoted work for Alpha and Omega resounded, as another Regisite went to reap her eternal reward on the first Saturday in April.

In Memoriam

SISTER MARY IRMINA, C.S.J.

"Bride of the Father and the Son,
Spouse of the Holy Ghost"

Her students remember. . .
The ever-present love for the Creator in the creation,
The searching for the wonders
of the firmament,
The glory in the single flower,
And above all, the finding of the Divine Spark in the works from the minds of men.

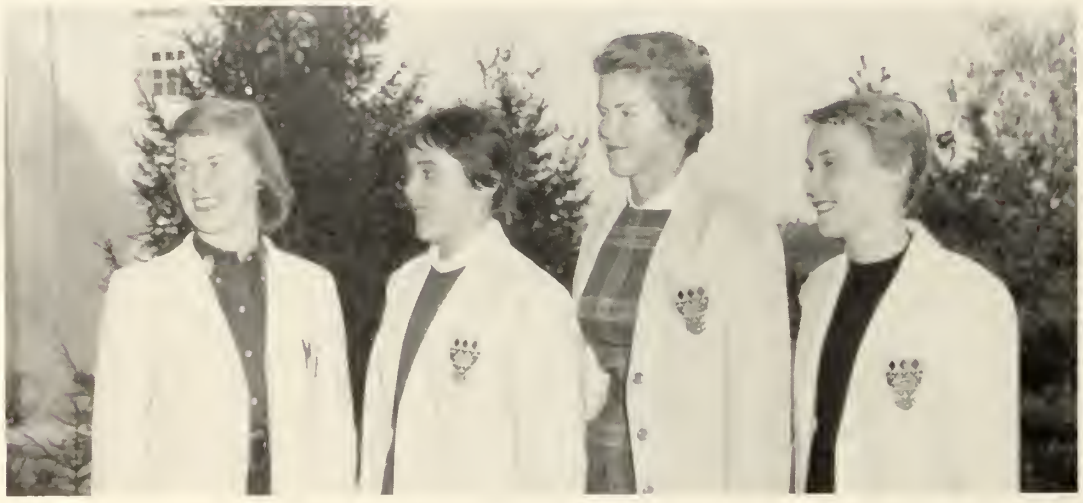
ANNE C. TAYLOR, '59

Dedicated to the Holy Family, the Faculty Chapel in St. Joseph Hall provides visitors and professors with a peaceful haven and an atmosphere for prayerful recollections throughout the day.

UNDERCLASSES

Junior Joys Blossom in Smiles of Officers



Leaders of the Junior Class are Mary Eileen Hurley, Secretary, Mary Grover, Vice-President, Carole Riordan, President, and Gail Stephenson, Treasurer.

Juniors

Anne Cavanaugh, Pauline Lafleur check Seminar books.

Junior Year is the busiest, happiest and fastest year of all. Precious memories of many dreams, which will last far beyond Degree Day, materialize.

Ring Day, Junior Week activities, the discovery of new knowledge in the field of concentration through Seminar and the distinction of becoming upperclassmen, all are realized now.

A unity of spirit accompanies each traditional event for the Juniors, as they participate in work and play, in joy and learning.

Junior Year is not only the year of belonging and maturing but it is also the year of surprising discoveries, of finding life-time friends and unexplored knowledge.

No note of finality dims the joy or the spirit of happiness of Juniors, as the Class of 1960 looks back upon an eventful year and unbelievably looks forward to the last year at Regis, high on a hilltop.

Working, Relaxing Shape New Upperclassmen

Having a gab-fest after classes relaxes Eileen Smith, Marianna Cardi, Lucy Ricker, Rosemarie Molla.

Signing Mary Dunleavy's Autograph Hound are Dorothy Gallagher, Kathleen Andrews, Barbara Ponte, Frances Warsawski, Ellen Smith.

50 Minutes, 7 Times Daily; Busy Minds

Lillian Joyce, Carol Carini, Marilyn Stasio, Pamela Mahfood, Patricia O'Connell, Janice Snook and Elaine McNulty listen, while Joan Igoe conducts an informal seminar on contemporary drama.

Hi to Elaine Duggan, Nancy Fitzpatrick, Ann Marie Volante, Barbara Cunningham, Joan Sutherland and Helen Suiatek.

Carol Dubis, Patricia Clogher, Adeline Nardone gaze admiringly at Artist Jane Ryan. Ellen Laulor studies the Madonna.

Outdoors, In; Out of Hand or In—Books

Taking advantage of the new spacious Library are (clockwise) Anne McIsaac, June Higgins, Pauline LaBouliere, Nancy Sheehan, Ann Haessler, Kathleen Brennan, Margaret Burke and Eleanor Reichheld.

"Any room?" Carol Murphy and Rose Anne Craig ask Mary Grover and Denise Merrill, as Juniors get set to leave campus.

Library-bound are B. Donnelly, W. Murphy, V. Milott, L. McCourt, M. Curtin, M. Donnelly, N. Fitzpatrick, A. Nardone, I. Wilk.

Leaders Spark Activities in Class of '61

Designated to lead the Class of '61 during Sophomore year are Jane D'Ercole, Sheila Curry, Rosemary Bagnulo, President, and Mary Flaherty.

Sophomores

Agnes Reardon and Cornelia Curtin scan news in the latest Herald.

Back again at Regis, the Class of 1961 proudly registered in September, with the knowledge of belonging. Each greeting bound every Sophomore closer to the integral Regis spirit.

Counseling the newest class, Sophomores' sense of belonging increased, especially when they were the initiators.

Electing their field of concentration, they found studies more important and class days very active.

Loyalty, zeal and responsibility were theirs, as they showed the Seniors, sister-class, what Sophomores can accomplish in Regis activities.

Having smiled through the Sophomore Testing Program, members of the Class of 1961 realized that the attainment of the half-way mark was theirs.

Progressing spiritually, intellectually and socially, the Sophomores are eager to conquer all the challenges which Regis will offer them in their remaining college career.

Catherine Norris, Vice-President, presents a problem for discussion to Helen Gazda, Secretary, Sandra Ross, Treasurer, and President Mary Alice Bernet concerning the Freshman Week End.

Freshmen

Mary Reen, Ann Kimpton, Mildred Cahill love Rosanne Thomas' hat.

Happy, excited and bubbling with curiosity, the Class of 1962 began its career at Regis. Every day marked a new experience which shone in the desire of each member to see, hear and tell all.

In a year, adjustment spelled success, as the Freshmen sailed through the trials of initiation, Saturday classes and were cooperative in every activity.

The added responsibility of knowing where each was going, provided in lectures and in several fields of study, saw a beginning to the mature young women of whom Regis College is proud.

Trips to Boston, delight in the morning mail, excitement at stag dances and planning the first college week end, all these were parts of the happy days. But the busy year soon faded into a haze of blissful memories.

Admired for zest and the spirit of adventure, the Class of 1962 proudly anticipates three more years at Regis, as it hails each college tradition.

Leisure Permits Frosh to Get Acquainted

Latest clippings about Regis and her students attract the attention of Marlene Ponton, Joan Leary, Margaret Tierney, Mary Sullivan, Helene Swiatek, Alice Rezner and Eleanor Silva, newcomers.

C. Norris, N. Earley, P. Downing, K. Sheahan, H. Gazda, J. O'Reilly, A. Mahoney, G. Doherty, K. Meelia, M. Power, S. Donnelly, E. Henighan, E. Doyle, '62.

Rosalia Castro smilingly tells Anne Fort, Una Foley, Judith Fallon, Charlotte Baruz, Linda Taylor, Rosemary Shannon about Guam.

Frosh Find Moments to Shop, Eat and Chat

Appraising Regis items in the Book Store are Judith Barry, Bernice Donahue, Judith Horgan, Gail Berlinghieri, Kathleen Dempsey, Mildred Crowley and Kathleen Connors, Freshmen.

Residents awaiting dinner are Clara Matarese, Sally Scanlon, Judith Megan, Kathleen McAdams, Carol Connolly and guests.

Between times a cup of tea for L. Luebbers, N. Greene, M. Horan, B. Gaudet, M. Kelley, J. Jackson, M. Sands, J. Williams, D. Fiumara.

Time for Prayer, Pleasure and Business

Gathered in the Regis Chapel for recitation of the Rosary, beseeching world peace, are Leonie Hone, Barbara Gaudet, Donna Gilooly, Sharlene Riel, MaryLou Shields and Judith McGarry.

Dormitory provides relaxed setting for K. Camson, D. DeNave, M. Enright, B. Bertany, G. Ruane, A. Leddy and F. Finn, Freshmen.

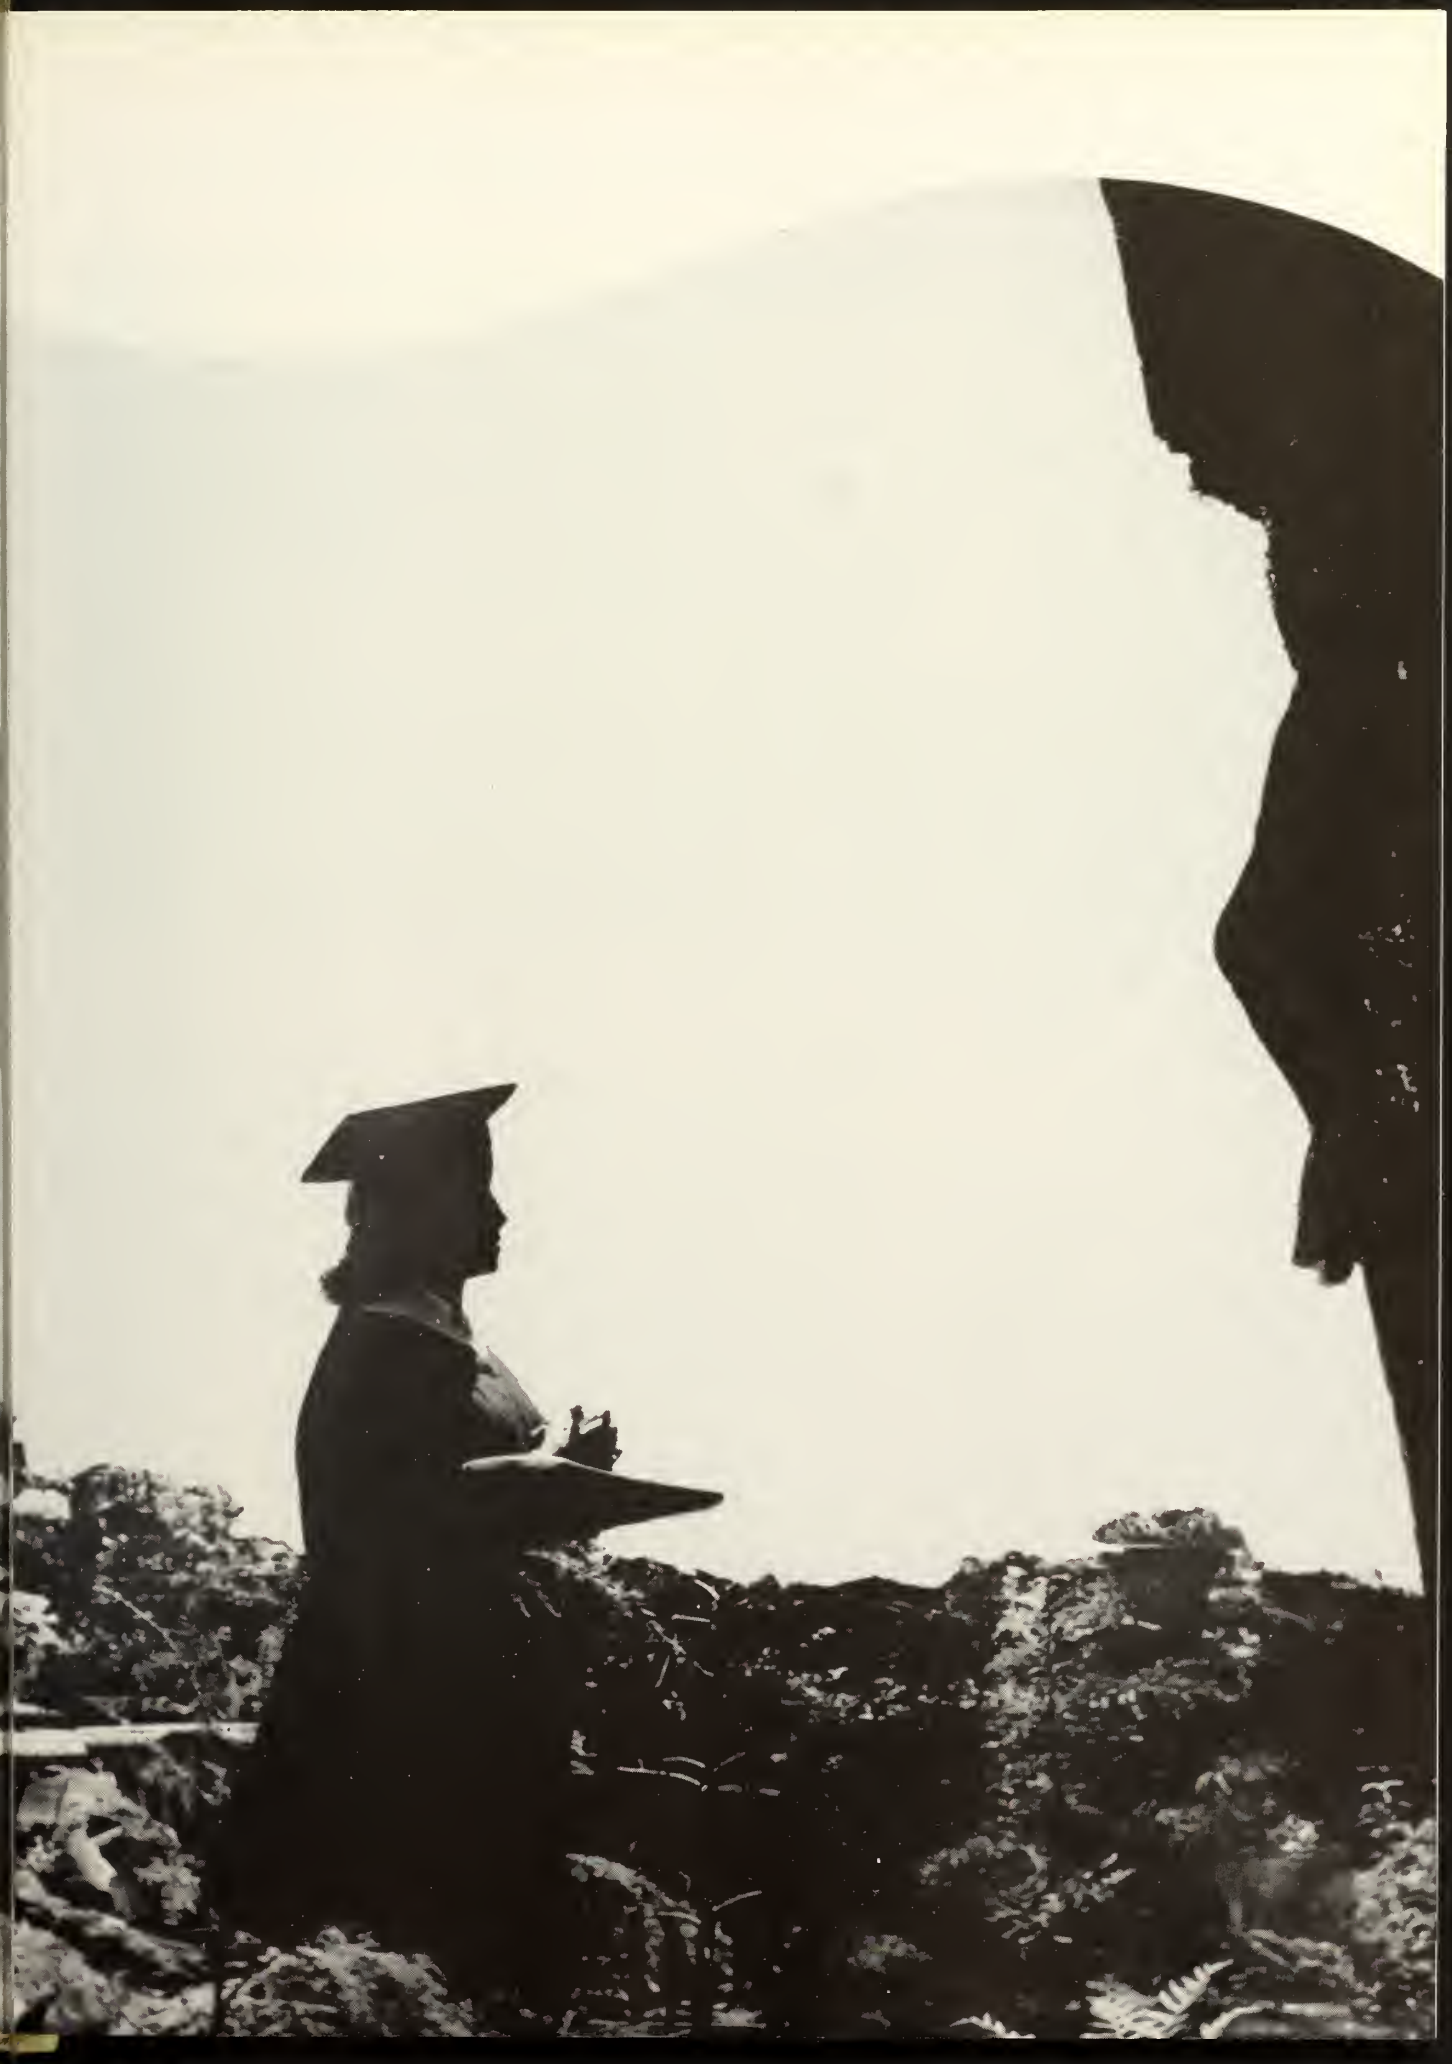
ACTIVITIES



Student Leaders Assemble in Directive Role

Student Council

"The Conscious, Critical, Creative Student in the Catholic College Community" was the immediate aim of Student Council for the year.

With emphasis on the three C's, Council sought to integrate activity in academic, social and religious phases.

Led by Jeanette Duffy, President, and Margaret Nichols, Vice-President, Council employed its delegated power in both judicial and directive roles.

The Committee System continued an effective program heightened by the success of the Dorm and Commuter Committees, while the newly-formed Religious Activities Committee also proved effective.

Campus Community Conferences were again popular with students, Faculty and Administration.

The newly-initiated Council of Club Presidents aided club coordination, while N.S.A. and N.F.C.C.S. contributed national and international viewpoints to campus projects.

Student awareness of student needs led to a positive contribution with a well-defined reciprocal basis of the student leader to student.

I. R. C., Sodalists Work, Pray for Peace

I. R. C.

Formulated to achieve a deeper understanding of international problems, ideas and desires, the International Relations Club is a vital campus force.

In its effort to promote world understanding and world peace, the I.R.C., under the direction of Louise Breason, President, and Sister Jeanne d'Arc, Moderator, presented distinguished speakers, as Fr. John Correia-Afonso, S.J., who discussed modern India.

Janice Snook, Louise Breason, Annette McCarthy and Mary Courtney survey a world map, looking for a point of recent interest to discuss at their next club meeting. Members' aim is to study problems which keep the world from being united in peace.

Sodality

Our Lady is the ideal of each Regisite and the Sodality is the organized body of her emulators. Officers encourage the living rosary, weekly adoration of the Blessed Sacrament and frequent attendance at daily Mass.

Sodalists aim for a real and active devotion to Mary, apparent in speech and action.

Proof of love appears in the beautiful and inspiring May procession on campus in honor of the Queen of Heaven.

Student Culture Radiates in Media of Clubs

Talented journalists, Dorothy Kelley, Anne Taylor and Margaret Curtin, smile with approval on poet Marilyn Stasio who, with pen in hand, creates the strange saga of "Marmaduke Mouse." These Regisites are not only capable writers but also capable leaders.

Writers' Club

The Writers' Club exists for the stimulation of would-be authors, by introducing its members to the techniques of creative and critical writing.

Agenda for the year included a lecture by the poet-professor of Holy Cross, Father Leonard McCarthy, S.J., a joint critical workshop with Boston College and Holy Cross, a tour of the Boston Globe and a hearts-and-flowers Valentine social, highlighting original poetry.

Literati

With an interest in cultural activities, the English Club joined by the Art Club, sponsored many projects during the year. Members attended "Oedipus Rex" in the Fall and a play in Boston in January. A guided tour of the Museum of Fine Arts was of interest to all.

The poetry contest, drama festival and discussions on literary topics show the Regis ability in creating, and reveal a feeling for artistic work.

A warm spring afternoon finds club officers, Mary White, President; Mary Lou DeMaria, Secretary; Dorothy Kelley, Vice-President; and Marilyn Stasio, Treasurer, resting on the Parterre, brushing up on their Shakespeare or is it Chaucer?

Clubs

High Note on Campus, Melody Lingers Forever

The Regis Glee Club strives to promote musical interests on and off campus. The group presents annual concerts throughout the Boston area. Circling the piano are Catherine Barrow, Yvette LeBlanc, Gail Stephenson, Patricia Polastri, (seated) Laura Allen and Sylvia Pellini.

Glee Club

To stimulate and foster musical appreciation and bring Regis into musical circles two prime functions are presented by the Glee Club.

Emphasizing great choral music, as contrasted to worn and often trite standards, the Glee Club is recognized as one of the foremost women's chorals in New England.

High in its itinerary is the annual Christmas Concert in early December and the Jordan Hall concert in March.

The Glee Club is under the direction of Berj Zamkochian, Conductor, with Sister M. Bobola as Moderator of this group.

Each Regis College concert provides a warm blend of classical pieces, tempered with a selection of semi-classical and popular favorites.

One outstanding feature of the Glee Club is the small choral group, the Carondoliers. Comprised of this year's Seniors, the group numbers seven. The Carondoliers with their smooth harmony have long been the delight of audiences.

Of each Glee Club member it may be said, she walks "With a Song in Her Heart."

"Go, Therefore, and Teach Ye All Nations"

To spread the word of God to home and foreign missions is the aim of the Mission Unit. Judith Farnham, Chairman, points to and discusses with Sonia Mejia, Lourdes Perez, Catherine O'Connor and Sally Byrne places where the Regis Lay Apostles will give-a-year.

Mission Unit

"Come follow Me"... and they answered the call. Seventy-two twentieth-century disciples have ignited the lamp, lighting the way to the world for a successful lay apostolate.

A little more than ten years ago there was merely a glow of hope for collegiate lay missionaries. The spark was then kindled, has since burst into a flame at Regis and is beginning to spread rapidly through other campuses.

Through the efforts of the Regis College Mission Unit these other Christs have been allowed to offer a year of their lives to understaffed mission schools in the forgotten corners of the United States, Alaska, Canada and Guam.

Some functions of the Unit, which support these lay missionaries, are Rose and Peanut days, the sale of Christmas novelties, and the publication of the Mighty Mite, news organ.

The production of the Senior Show climaxed this year's fund-raising campaign, in which the entire class of 1959 participated, in February, to help defray transportation fees of the graduates on the give-a-year program.

Clubs

Brains and Brawn Constitute the Regisites

A. A.

Developing physical skills of Regisites, A.A. spurs on the collegiate athletic atmosphere. The Association sponsors all sporting activities on campus, featuring basketball, golf, tennis and field hockey.

Completing a successful season, the basketball team clashed with eight neighboring colleges.

This year the A.A. instituted a Ping Pong Tournament. On the agenda were a series of golf lessons and a ski trip.

Athletic associates radiate vim and vitality after a year's program of healthful exercise and fun. Members are (first row) Jeanne Ward, President of A.A., Patricia O'Hearn, Marilou Holahan, (second row) Jane D'Ercole, Rose Anne Craig, Deborah Rooney and Leila Hogan.

Mathematical Club President, Mary Jane Newton, looks over the fundamental problems of statistics, slide rules, $E=mc^2$ and other theories with colleagues, Katherine Finnegan, Dorothy DesRoches, Anne O'Connor and Catherine O'Connor, Seniors all.

Mathematical Club

Furthering a rapidly growing enthusiasm for higher mathematics, the Mathematical Club is composed of Sophomore, Junior and Senior computors. The outstanding project this year was the stamp collection. Campus mathematicians have completed many new pages in the Regis collection, commemorating the issue of a mathematical stamp.

This year's agenda included also field trips, debates and holiday socials.

Nu Beta, Ethelon Put Theory Into Practice

Nu Beta members look forward to careers in psychiatric fields or the teaching profession. This get-together anticipates the schedule for the year with Nancy Saunders, Suzanne Buteau, Gertrude O'Sullivan, Donna Eager as President and Deborah Rooney.

Nu Beta

Combining Education and Psychology, Nu Beta Club unites members intellectually and socially.

Monthly meetings spotlight professional psychologists and guidance directors, who review modern theories of character and classroom procedure. These talks aid Psychology majors in clinic work and Psychology-Education concentrators in the field of practice-teaching and later teaching.

Ethelon Club

Sociologists find a wonderful chance to serve the needy willingly in the Ethelon Club.

In November, the traditional Food Sale supports the club's many charities. These include mental hospitals, rehabilitation centres and settlement houses.

An annual highlight comes in Spring, when a tea is given for club members and supervisors of Social Service Agencies and of field work.

Donating proceeds from the annual Food Sale, Ethelonians meet on the Parterre to map agenda for two semesters. Members include Mary McRell, Frances Dewire, June Higgins and Marianna Doyle, who feel that in unity there is strength at all times.

Clubs

Curtain Falls But Performance Lives Forever

Thespians enthusiastically listen to the great tragedies and comedies of Shakespeare on record. Rumi Ueno adjusts the sound. Catherine Moran, Anne Twohy and Marilyn Stasio wait in turn to hear their choice. Roberta Gillespie follows along with written copy.

Dramatic Club

A channel for dramatic abilities of the Regisites, the Mask and Wig Association produces two main attractions yearly. With Rumi Ueno, President, the season opened with "The Torchbearers," a satire on drama by John Kelly. During the second semester the Thespians presented "A Crown in Dust," an original three-act tragedy by Dorothy Kelley.

With Literati, the Dramatic Club sponsored an original one-act play festival.

The group encourages producers, directors, actresses and intelligent theatre-goers to appreciate the best.

Kathleen Minihan, Anne Towhy find last-minute brush-ups helpful for "The Torchbearers."

A, B, C's, Plus and Minus Signs Challenge

Absorbed with the thoughts of careers in the world of typewriters, steno-pads and machines, the Business Club executives, Lourdes Perez, Mary Early, Kathleen Doyle and Agnes Reardon, order President Brenda Fultz, "Take a letter, please."

Kappa Phi Epsilon

Kappa Phi Epsilon encourages preparation for one's career.

On the docket was a talk by Sister M. Fidelma about the Vatican Stamp Collection. A bridge, to help the lay apostles of last year, took place in November.

Club members viewed the Dupont story as a motion picture in December.

Seniors conducted interviews to help members and Juniors hostessed a farewell party.

Louis Pasteur Club

Louis Pasteur Club meetings are geared to scientific interests among budding scientists. To become better acquainted with the science alumnae, L.P.C. sponsored a reunion.

Intercollegiate panels were given at Regis Hall twice during the year. "Education and the Space Age" was the theme of the October panel.

"Student Night" at M.I.T. acquainted student-chemists with professionals.

Future scientists of an atomic age find time to pause and smile after a busy day's work in the laboratory. Seated are Jeanne Ward, Yvette LeBlanc, Ann Marie Whitcomb and Stephanie Goonan. Standing are Madeline LaCava as President, Barbara Cassidy and Maria Migliorini.

That We May Profit by Mistakes of Others

Economics

Making its début on the campus in 1949, Lambda Tau Phi seeks to arouse student interest in the nation's economic welfare.

Aims are directed toward attaining the most basic Christian principles, linked with good technical economics in solving current problems of the day.

Lambda Tau Phi's motto embraces, "So let your light shine before men that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in Heaven."

Jane F. McCarthy, Sonia Mejia and Elaine Wood, Economics concentrators, match wits on current affairs, the recession, the crisis on Wall Street and future rockets to the moon. They succeed in fulfilling their role as conscious, creative and critical women of Regis.

Joan Shaughnessy, Margaret Doherty, Margaret Finn, Margaret Lynch and Barbara Norman have an informal discussion on the Parterre. They observe how Europe's distresses seem to have had an important part in America's success. History is thus a guide to modern thought.

History

Pope Leo XIII, patron of the History Club, urged Catholic historians to penetrate the past in the pursuit of truth, discovering glories, crises and other events which served to make the world what it is today.

The Pope echoed the words of Cicero, "The first law of History ...not to fear to state what is true..."

Highlight of the year was a lecture by Professor Carleton Hayes at Boston College.

Linguists, Classicists Unite Work and Play

France or Spain, anyone? "Oui, oui," say members of the Modern Language Club. Catherine Keller eagerly looks up their positions on the globe. Irene Demers, Marcia Shepard, Suzanne Tetrault and Marie Murphy give their unanimous approval for the travelogue.

Modern Language Club

Union of all nations under the aspect of language is the motive of the Modern Language Club. With the intermingling of French, Spanish, Italian and Russian, it recreates a microscopic world of foreign speaking countries at Regis.

Motion pictures, dramas, lectures and socials contributed to the agenda. Yuletide featured dialect-dialogues of Christmas customs throughout the world.

Sigma Tau Phi

Society of the Lovers of the Muses is intended for any student interested in things classical. Through informal yet informative discussions on classical trends and influences on modern culture, members concluded there is "nothing new under the sun." They coordinate cultural projects with their interest in Latin composition and conversation.

The Academy aims to increase appreciation of the Classics.

Sigma Tau Phi, composed of Latin concentrators, takes time out to catch up on translations. Joanne McCarthy, Lee Oberly and Colleen Kelley review Cicero, Vergil and Caesar. Gail McGowan, Anne Daly, Catherine Moran and Catherine Ross await a few hints.

Clubs

Our Recipe for Charity, Fun, Food, Fashion

Alpha Omicron Tau

Designed to promote an awareness of the field's professional opportunities, the Home Economics Club brings speakers to discuss the roles of dietitian, teacher and designer.

Functions providing fun and fashions increase member facility. Results were seen and admired at the Fashion Show in the Spring, on campus.

The Club contributed some of its handicraft to the underprivileged.

Barbara Meyer, Marie Cronin, Janet Rowe, Barbara Emerson, Kathleen Kelley, President, and Mary Doyle (clockwise) listen, as Carol Donovan outlines a schedule for coming activities in one of the campus' most active groups, the housewives and homemakers of tomorrow.

Phi Upsilon Omicron

The National Home Economics Club is a professional fraternity. Regis has the distinction of being the only Catholic college in the nation with a chapter.

This year, Phi U sent clothing and usable material to the people of hurricane-swept Belize in British Honduras.

To develop morally responsible and enterprising women leaders, united in a strong friendship, was fulfilled.

Growth is a never-ending process at Regis and with growth comes need. Under the direction of Mrs. John Shea, the Regis Guild takes on the task of mitigating the ever-present expenses.

The Guild includes mothers of students, alumnae and Regis friends. Never ones to sit back passively, members comprise more than a social organization; they form an integral part of Regis.

Yearly, the Guild presents its proceeds to the College to benefit students and student facilities. Maria Hall, with its strikingly modern lounges and tastefully furnished rooms, is the main recipient of the Guild's proceeds recently.

Regis Guild features three traditional activities. The first is the Fall Bridge Party. The Christmas Sale comes in December and claims undivided attention. During the sale, at Regis Hall, Regisites and friends do a little early Christmas shopping. The social activity to culminate the year is the Regis Night at the Pops, held in May, and eagerly anticipated and thoroughly enjoyed.

The spiritual side of the Guild is never neglected. Early Spring marks the time for the perennial Communion Breakfast, with Monsignor Augustine F. Hickey, V.G., Spiritual Moderator of the Guild, as celebrant of the Mass.

Guild members meet monthly, at which time they enjoy cultural programs.

With a new President, Mrs. Irene Pendolari McCarthy, the Regis College Alumnae Association initiated additional activities this year.

"The World in the College Classroom" was stressed by the Fall and the Spring Alumnae Lecture Series, designed to introduce faculty members to the graduates. Included among the speakers were Edward Wakin, New York journalist, Thomas Overkleeft, Sister M. Alexine, Berj Zamkochian, Miss Valerie Tumins and Mme. Aline Laus. Past and present students learned much from the specialists.

At Regis Hall a bazaar was held for the scholarship and the building funds. Regis friends purchased Christmas gifts at the "Persian Market." Exquisite cards, designed by Sister M. Louisella, alumna, were in demand.

Graduates from every class gathered at the Holly Tea and later at the All-Alumnae Reunion, where the Class of 1934 held the place of honor.

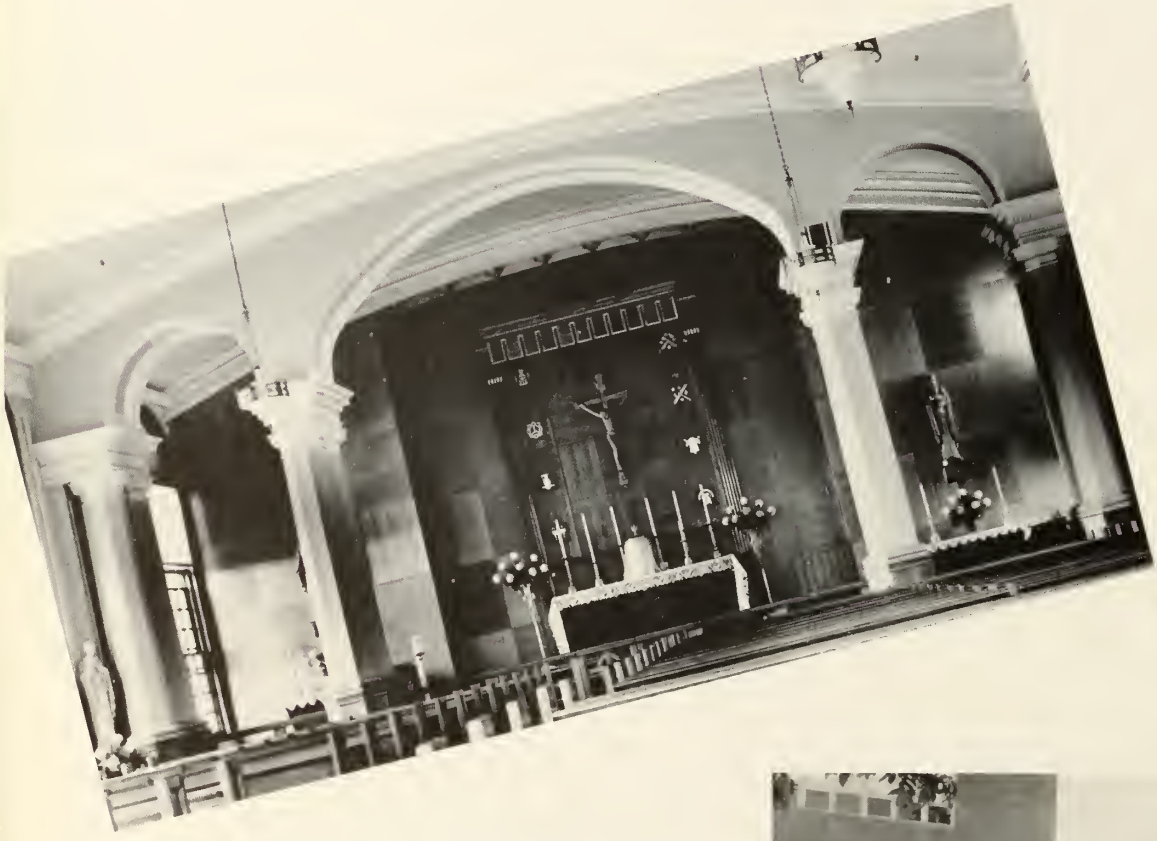
Present Regis students, as well as the Alumnae, took delight in attending the Harvest Hop, the Noël Ball and the Ring Dance, annual Alumnae sponsored functions.

The spiritual aspect of the association may be seen in the bi-annual Holy Hour in the College Chapel.

The Alumnae Association aids Regis spiritually and materially.

TRADITIONS

To the Altar of God to Begin the Regis Day



ROUND THE

The beautiful re-decorated Chapel in College Hall contains a new hand-carved altar, crucifix and statues.

The Modern Algebra class finds Marilyn Swift instructing. Classmates give her their cheerful attendance.

Two Seniors mount the steps of the Library in order to get an early start on the weekly Seminar assignments.

Seminar, Lectures, Labs, Field Fun, Too

A group of Senior and Junior economists and business concentrators holds a Seminar on money and banking.

Designer is Paulette Cassen, modelling her creation; Carol Donovan checks hem; Kathleen O'Brien observes.

Any early Fall day finds Regisites engaged in a familiar practice of Field Hockey, popular sport.

Autumn Leaves; Preview of Diverse Functions

Lourdes Perez, Rosemary Catalucci, Dorothy Kelley and Mary Jane Regan begin plans for the Senior Show.

Jane McCarthy, Roberta Smith, Mary Lou Bettencourt and Mary Courtney return to College Hall for classes.

Autumn finds Mary Lou DeMaria at tennis, while students behind her participate in field hockey.

Richard Cardinal Cushing confers caps and gowns upon Seniors.

Melting Winter Snow; Happy College Days

Such action, such tension. Let's get in and make that basket count, girls.

A bevy of beauties, Mary Anne Kennedy, Barbara LaBouliere, Carol Donovan and Yvette LeBlanc, await their prince charmings.

January transforms the Regis campus into a winter wonderland. Buildings are silhouetted against the sky.

Devotion, Dances, Dates Sparkle Springtime

Our Lady's Court includes Ann Maloney, Virginia Milott, Margaret Connors as May Queen, Jane Rooney and Anna Lamoureux, attendants in the pageantry on campus.

Dorothy Hogan crowns Margaret Kelley Queen of the Junior Prom. Her attendants are Marie Fish and Paula Welch, Seniors.

Nature's New Life Incites Archery, Banquet

Mary Doyle and Jean Letourneau, Sodality Officers, lead the May Procession from College Hall to the Grotto for the crowning ceremony.

Beverly Plouffe receives instructions in the techniques of archery.

Enthusiasm, Ink and Deadlines Equal News

Sparkling with imaginative plans are Editors and Staff (seated) Jane Hanron, Elaine Sullivan, Anne Taylor, Rosemary Catalucci, (standing) Jean Forgit, Margaret Nichols, Dorothy Kelley, Cathleen Carney, Audrey Bowen and Irene O'Connor, Senior top members.

Celebrating the Silver Jubilee are Anne Taylor, Rosemary Catalucci and Elaine Sullivan, Herald leaders.

The Regis Herald is celebrating its Silver Jubilee after twenty-five years of faithful reporting of news.

For a quarter of a century, the aim remained the same, to make it a vehicle for Catholic Action, informative and a credit to Alma Mater.

But today the Herald is considerably brighter with coated paper, modern Tempo type and a streamlined format. It spotlights many new columns and features, keeping it up-to-date in a world of culture, fashion and social events.

Down the days, the Herald has been awarded All Catholic, the highest rating from Marquette University. It has been selected "Newspaper of Distinction" there and All-American. Thus it is a vehicle of expression for student initiative in Catholic Journalism.

Superior Standards Set Pace for Creativity

All-Catholic, All-American honors crown Our Own. Distinguished in the realm of collegiate literary magazines, Hemetera rocketed to its thirteenth year with Cathleen Carney and Dorothy Kelley at the helm as Co-Editors.

Between its dashing black cover, Hemetera's three issues embraced a variety of reviews, articles, fresh fiction, poetry and original art. Again, Hemetera reflected the poise and good taste of its authors and reading audience.

Cathleen Carney, Dorothy Kelley, Co-Editors, check newest literary output on the exchange list.

Scanning creative work is staff (seated) Roberta Smith, Jean Forgit, Audrey Bowen, (standing) Margaret Nichols, Elaine Sullivan, Rosemary Catalucci, Anne Taylor, Irene O'Connor, Paulette Cassen.

Yearbook Editors Gather Campus Highlights,

Jean Forgit and Irene O'Connor, Co-Editors, concentrate on recording collegiate activities and capturing class memories to be made indelible in yearbook.

Who is the Valiant Woman? She has many guises, and the MOUNT REGIS of 1959 spotlights every phase. She may hold a high office or she may whip up a tasty frappé. Her only requisite is a personification of Our Lady's virtues.

To the MOUNT REGIS staff, the task of putting together a yearbook seemed almost insurmountable. It meant long hours of arduous work, both in the writing and the fund-raising campaigns.

But now peace reigns in the Journalism Room. The typewriters are still, the books are on the press and the hustle and bustle of the Thursday morning Journalism Conclave is over.

Here we have the long-awaited, finished volume, the 1959 MOUNT REGIS, which captures the joyous and unforgettable memories of our life at Regis.

Gaiety, jollity mark discussion of yearbook's agenda among staff (seated) Dorothy Kelley, Rosemary Catalucci, Paulette Cassen, Sally Byrne, Margaret Nichols, Anne Taylor (standing) Patricia Uzdarwin, Cathleen Carney, Elaine Sullivan and Audrey Bowen.

While Business Managers Foot the Finances

Paula Welch, Business Manager, discusses future projects with aides, Margaret Kelley, Mary Walsh, Catherine Keller, especially Dad-Daughter Night.

Business becomes order of the day, involving fun and efficiency with committee members (seated) MaryAnn Tompkins, Mary Philbin, Elizabeth Russell, (standing) Jane Hanron, Joan Cratty, Nancy Mahoney, Louise Foucher, Joan Kelley, Paulette Cassen, Barbara Schmidle and Jane K. McCarthy.

We Were One and Twenty in New Spring

Jean Forgit anticipates social whirl, as beau chats with Mrs. Barry.

Pontifical Mass denotes the solemnity of Baccalaureate Day, the spiritual highlight of Senior Week.

Time Unfolds; Seniors Touch Brink of Life

Cardinal Cushing confers A.B. degree in true academic tradition.

Daisy Chain bearers accompany Seniors to Tower Gardens for Class Day exercises.

Keep me, O Lord, Your valiant woman, now and forever, for You are the Way, the Truth and the Life.

Epilogue

Our tree is planted, lest Regis forget the Class of 1959. Our record of four years is complete. The spirit of the Class of 1959 and that of Regis are now intermingled.

Feelings of sadness and joy well up in our souls. Together, as a unit, we have studied, learned and lived a way of life.

As a final farewell, we pause at the wayside shrine to say a prayer—one of thanksgiving for the days we have spent here and a prayer of petition that He Who has guided us through the years may direct us in the future.

We end our life at Regis with the invocation with which we began it..."O Lord, Jesus Christ, Who art the Way, the Truth and the Life..."

So our motto epitomizes the future.

Regis College Is Arch to Way, Truth, Life

Pride and joy, Carondoliers . . . Loretta Chabot, Patricia Polastri, Jean Letourneau, Yvette LeBlanc, Margaret Gormley, Sylvia Pellini, Accompanist. Lorraine DeFeo is absent.

Senior Officers are (in centre) President Ellen Lawlor, Dorothy Kelley, Secretary, Ann LaFay, Treasurer, Maureen O'Connell, Vice-President.

Confraternity of Christian Doctrine is headed by (seated) Barbara Cunningham, Chairman Michaella Cleary, Anne Daly; (standing) Deborah Rooney, Marcelle Lamoureux, Donna Eager.

A Book To Be Treasured . . .

This annual is a permanent record, in picture and prose, of the academic year 1958-1959 at Regis College. Its value will increase as the years pass, and the quality of the printing will contribute in great measure to its lasting worth.

The Andover Press, Ltd., takes pride in its well-known craftsmanship which, combined with the long hours of careful planning and painstaking editorial work by the MOUNT REGIS Staff, makes this a book to be treasured.
